Dear Sir,

More than twenty years have passed since we first published "The Review of Physical Chemistry of Japan." This journal was sent out to universities and laboratories in the world except during the World War II with the support of various academic circles in Japan.

We flatter ourselves that this journal has taken a leading part in introducing the most recent developments of our chemical world to you.

We thank you for your kind support and encouragement in the publication and again solicit your further support in our future activities.

We hope to exchange this journal for yours.

Yours sincerely,

Ryo Kiyama
